Dear Instinct releases latest single

Lift Me Up

Dear Instinct, a bespoke Melbourne based band founded by Tommy Vucur and Jake Lowe, today released their latest single Lift Me Up.

Prior to the creation of Dear Instinct, the pair have released four international albums, played three European tours and supported acts for Iron Maiden, Joe Satriani and Helloween.

Dear Instinct has previously collaborated with other artists such as Ben Edgar—bass, Lee Fisher—drums/percussion and Tony Levin as a guest musician on Half Moon Bay.

Dear Instinct's sound can be described as New Age Ambient Melodic Rock.

“The romanticism role in music is pure art form and expression, it's a good distraction from everyday life.”

—Tommy Vucur

Recorded from their home studio in Melbourne, all songs were written and mixed by Tommy and Jake. Their latest track Lift Me Up is inspired by the freedom to express your emotions through music.

Dear Instinct's music is based on a belief that “each song has its own story to tell without limitations.”

January 2023, Melbourne Australia.
